

FLORIDA FRANCE SOLDIER STORIES

UCF

Henry Franklin Wilson

1918 – 1944

Private First Class: US Army

Company C, 15th Infantry Regiment, 3rd Infantry Division

This Florida France Soldier Stories (FFSS) source packet contains digitally available sources documenting the life of a US Army soldier who served in Eastern France during World War II. The Memorial Museum of the Liberation of the Colmar Pocket preserves some of his personal items in its unique archival collection.

In this ongoing partnership, UCF history students conduct research as part of the FFSS project to assist the dedicated staff at the Museum. Our goal is simple yet profound: to help visitors connect with the events of the war and the individuals who lived them—bridging the distance between past and present and between the US and France.

Please note some news articles published online exist behind paywalls and require a subscription for digital access. We have provided links and text excerpts but have not reproduced the images. Similarly, remembrance pages include photos. Again, we have provided links, when applicable, but have not reproduced images without express written permission.

1920 Federal Census (1 of 2)

In 1920, the Wilson family, George (31), Mary (29), and Onie (2) lived in Montague, TX. Henry's father, George, worked as a farmer, while his mother, Mary, took care of the family. The family all lived together; we find Henry on the top of the next page of the census (see below).

En 1920, la famille d'Henry Wilson, George (31 ans), Mary (29 ans) et Onie (2 ans), vivait à Montague (Texas). Le père d'Henry, George, était agriculteur, tandis que sa mère, Mary, s'occupait de la famille. Ils vivaient ensemble mais nous trouvons Henry en haut de la page suivante du recensement (voir ci-dessous).

World War II Draft Registration Card (Front)

Henry registered for the World War II draft on October 16, 1940. At the time, he lived in Nocona, Montague County, TX. He did not list an employer, but likely worked on the family's farm. He listed his father, George Washington, as his point of contact.

Henry s'est enregistré à la conscription pour la Seconde Guerre mondiale le 16 octobre 1940. À l'époque, il vivait à Nocona, dans le comté de Montague (Texas). Il n'a pas indiqué d'employeur, mais il travaillait probablement sur la ferme familiale. Il a désigné son père, George Washington, comme point de contact.

Hospital Record

Henry's August 1944 hospital record shows that he suffered from a skin condition called cellulitis, which led to complications, including an abscess in the glands. He also had a varicocele, an injury to his scrotum. Doctors treated these conditions with incisions and drainage, then returned him to duty.

Le dossier médical d'Henry, datant d'août 1944, indique qu'il souffrait d'une affection cutanée appelée cellulite infectieuse, qui a entraîné des complications, notamment un abcès des glandes. Il souffrait également d'une varicocèle, une lésion du scrotum. Les médecins ont traité ces affections par incision et drainage, puis il a repris son service.

HISTORY OF THE THIRD INFANTRY DIVISION

The 3d Signal Company posted similar signs throughout the area to aid the campaign to keep in communications.

298 killed, 327 prisoners, and an estimated 1185 wounded. In addition the enemy lost four tanks, twelve mortars, two Flakwagons, forty machine guns, and a large number of artillery pieces.

The 41st Field Artillery Battalion fired 7226 rounds of 105mm howitzer ammunition in seventy-four concentrations and ten TOTs (time on target, a system whereby the fire of all guns of a given number of artillery units is brought to bear simultaneously). Cannon Company fired 5864 rounds of 105 and 75mm ammunition, and a total of ninety-nine rounds of 4.2 mortar ammunition were expended by Company B, 99th Chemical Battalion.

(Beginning December 16, the Fifth and Sixth Panzer Armies of Field Marshal von Rundstedt lashed out in a counteroffensive in Belgium and Luxembourg which stunned the entire Allied camp. Known later as "Battle of the Bulge," German elements achieved a maximum penetration of approximately fifty-five miles before the tide of battle turned and Third and Ninth Armies to either flank of the attacked United States First Army began slashing at the sides of the Bulge. Colmar Pocket, in the big picture, was an irritating little red grease-pencilled twist on the lower end of the situation map, only a minor battle—unless one was there.)

On December 17 the 3d Infantry Division began moving south for the continuance of the relief of 36th Infantry Division. The 2d Battalion, 15th Infantry, was first relieved, to commence its move to the vicinity of Riquewihr, where it closed in on the following day. It was followed by the 3d and 1st Battalions on December 19. The 1st and 2d Battalions, 7th Infantry, were completely relieved on defensive positions in Strasbourg by other elements of the 36th Division, and command of the former 36th sector passed to Brigadier General Robert N. Young (commanding the Division in the absence of General O'Daniel, on temporary duty in the United States) at 1430, December 21.

Two days later, December 23, the 15th Infantry launched an attack against the two towns of Bennwihr and Sigolsheim, as the first step in securing a more stable line of defense. Defense was the keynote at this time. Seventh Army had received a sizable German counterattack against its barely-won positions in southern Germany and was forced to withdraw to a more tenable line in lower Alsace. It was known that the Germans had announced their intentions of retaking Strasbourg, if possible, as a "Christmas present" for der Führer, and a pincers between the forces opposing Seventh Army forces and those opposing French First Army, of which the 3d Infantry Division was now a part, was considered a definite possibility. Our first step, therefore, was to secure Bennwihr and Sigolsheim, the last two towns of any size between that part of our line and the key city of Colmar, and to drive the Germans from all high ground north of a line Sigolsheim-Kayersberg.

Sigolsheim and Bennwihr are located at the extreme western edge of the Alsace Plain and just east of the last high slopes of the Vosges. Advance reconnaissance indicated that Sigolsheim in particular was strongly occupied by the enemy, and later events proved this to be entirely true.

Besides drawing the assignment to take the two towns, 15th Infantry also had the mission of clearing Hill 351, a high mass that lies between them.

The 15th's drive was directed east from positions in the vicinity of Kientzheim, which was held by the 2d Battalion, 30th Infantry. The 1st Battalion, commanded by Lt. Col. Keith L. Ware, was to capture Sigolsheim; the 3d Battalion, under Maj. John O'Connell, to attack Bennwihr, and the 2d Battalion, under Lt. Col. Eugene A. Salet, was to block and support the attack of the other battalions from positions on the northern slope of Hill 351.

At H-hour, 0730, Companies A and C attacked. Particularly stiff resistance was encountered just before reaching the town when a convent just north of it was found to be an enemy stronghold, with enemy manning machine guns, mortars, and small arms. After a stiff two-hour fight Company A succeeded in pressing through and past this opposition to reach the edge of town at noon.

History of the Third Infantry Division in World War II (1 of 2)

The History of the Third Infantry Division in World War II dedicated a chapter to the combat in the Colmar Pocket (pages 282-324). The 15th Infantry Regiment participated in the liberation of many Alsatian towns, including Ammerschwihr, Riquewihr, Sigolsheim, and Bennwihr. As a soldier in this regiment, Henry likely took part in these objectives before his death on December 25, 1944.

L'ouvrage The History of the Third Infantry Division in World War II (Histoire de la troisième division d'infanterie pendant la Seconde Guerre mondiale) consacre un chapitre aux combats de la poche de Colmar (pages 282 à 324). Le 15e régiment d'infanterie a participé à la libération de nombreux villages alsaciens, notamment Ammerschwihr, Riquewihr, Sigolsheim et Bennwihr. En tant que soldat de ce régiment, Henry a probablement pris part à ces opérations avant sa mort, le 25 décembre 1944.

Re-Interment For
Pvt. Henry F. Wilson

HENRY F. WILSON

Funeral services were held in Nocona Thursday, Sept. 30, at 2:30 p. m., at the Daugherty Memorial Chapel for Pvt. Henry F. Wilson, who was killed in action Dec. 25, 1944, while serving with the Third Inf. Division in France. Ministers S. W. Driver and Winstead Cooper officiated.

Pvt. Wilson was born Oct. 20, 1918, in the Prairie Valley community. Before entering the service he was employed as a civilian truck driver at Camp Howze.

Interment was made in the Long Branch Cemetery with Daugherty Funeral Home directing arrangements and with military rites at the graveside by the Harris-Hedgepeth-Rolls Post of the American Legion.

Survivors include two daughters, Nell and Carolyn Wilson, of Pilot Point; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson of Nocona; three sisters, Mrs. A. C. Stanke, Keyport, Washington, Mrs. Floyd Cook, Pilot Point, Texas, and Miss Rowena Wilson, Nocona; two brothers, Alvin and Clifford Wilson of Nocona; one niece and one nephew.

Article from The Nocona News

The Nocona News, a newspaper published about 85 miles north of Fort Worth, TX, announced on Friday, October 1, 1948, that Henry, initially buried in France, would be reinterred in Texas with military rites. The article listed the family members who survived him, including his two daughters, Nell and Carolyn Wilson, his parents, three sisters, and two brothers.

Le Nocona News, un journal publié à environ 137 km au nord de Fort Worth (Texas), a annoncé le vendredi 1er octobre 1948 que Henry, initialement enterré en France, serait inhumé au Texas avec les honneurs militaires. L'article dressait la liste des membres de sa famille qui lui avaient survécu, notamment ses deux filles, Nell et Carolyn Wilson, ses parents, ses trois sœurs et ses deux frères.

US Headstone Application (Front)

George W. Wilson filed a headstone application requesting a military marker for his son. This application confirms Henry's burial in his hometown of Nocona, TX, that he was born in 1918, and that he died on Christmas 1944 while serving in Co C, 15th Regiment, 3rd ID.

George W. Wilson a déposé une demande de pierre tombale pour son fils afin qu'il puisse bénéficier d'une stèle militaire. Cette demande confirme qu'Henry a été inhumé dans sa ville natale de Nocona (Texas), qu'il est né en 1918 et qu'il est décédé à Noël 1944 alors qu'il servait dans la compagnie C du 15e régiment de la 3e division d'infanterie.

Memorial

In Ammerschwihr, France, on a rough sandstone boulder typical of the region, a metal plaque honors the 3rd Infantry Division's sacrifice during the town's liberation. The 3rd ID played a pivotal role in liberating the village in December 1944; Henry took part in that operation.

Le village d'Ammerschwihr (France) a érigé, sur un rocher de grès typique de la région, une plaque métallique rendant hommage au sacrifice de la 3e division d'infanterie lors de la libération de la ville. La 3e division d'infanterie a joué un rôle central dans la libération du village en décembre 1944, et Henry y a participé.

Memorial

This hilltop memorial next to the French military cemetery honors the American divisions that fought to reduce the Colmar Pocket. The memorial stands atop Hill 351, also known as 'Bloody Hill,' near the place where Henry suffered his fatal wounds on December 25, 1944.

Ce mémorial situé au sommet d'une colline, à côté du cimetière militaire français, rend hommage aux divisions américaines qui ont combattu pour réduire la poche de Colmar. Le mémorial se dresse au sommet de la colline 351, également appelée « Bloody Hill », près de l'endroit où Henry a été mortellement blessé le 25 décembre 1944.
